Quality Characteristics - The four principals

When continuous quality control is imperative and innovative ideas are turned into exceptional design, a Fischer Wedding Band is born.

Alloys

FISCHER's collection of wedding rings includes a wide range of different colours and alloys. Gold alloys used in jewellery production contain pure gold together with silver, copper and, in case of white gold, palladium. The mixing of these metals in different proportions determines the colour of the finished gold. FISCHER gives you a choice of gold alloys with a minimum gold content of 58.5% (14 ct.) and 75% (18 ct.). We use platinum and 925 and 900 sterling silver. Nickel is not used in any of our precious metal products.

Sign of approval

On all of our products near the metal standard you will find a FI stamp of authenticity. This certifies the product is manufactured by FISCHER in accordance with the time-honoured tradition of Pforzheim jewellery art.

Diamonds

The four C's define the cut, carat weight, clarity and colour of the diamonds. The weight, colour and clarity of the stone are engraved on the inside of each ring. We use stones from reputable suppliers and guarantee the quality, which we ourselves continuously test.

Comfort

Most of the ring profiles are hollowed internally for maximum wear comfort.

Character - The significance of love

So they got a signature, a number or a brief message subtly etched on the inside/outside of your rings. Your retailer will ask you for an original signature or drawing which we will laser engrave onto the ring.

Your personally chosen symbol, as an example here, the Japanese symbol for love.
